MAYFIELD IS ON A BOOM NOW

"We shall have a railroad from Mayfield to Calro by next December,' said Editor W. K. Wall, of the May field Monitor, who was in the city "The promoters of the road have about secured all of their rights of way, and have consummated their arrangements for the necessary money all right, and active construction work will start the first of April."

Mr. Wait does not think there will be two roads built from May field to Calro, but the L. & N. road will eventually take over the othe: read, which is being promoted by L. W. Goode, of New York and Mayfield capitalists, and span out the road over to the N., C. & St. L. tracks four miles south of Murray. The work will be rushed to have the tracks land to Mayfield by December, as the road has to be constructed to It Was Discharged and the Bellboy that point by that time to get the $40,000 Mayfield will give the road.

"We are booming in Mayfield," said Mr. Wall "and expect to double our population in five years.

of Public Works Here.

Time to the Work, It It. Carries.

A NEW RULE FOR THE COUNCIL COL. AYRES FOR FIRE MARSHAL

A suggestion has been made to give all of his time to the city's busficial for doing so.

The advocates of the idea say that the council was considering creating the office of city buyer at an expense of $1,200 a year, but the idea was IN FULTON HOTBL given up because it was found that he would have very little to buy, the firemen boards insisting on making just created. all the purchases . for these departcould be added to those of the president of the board of works ,who could make all the purchase for that roll call showed the following presboard and the other departments of give all of his attention to the direcwith the other city officials under whose department it came; to pre-HELD. pare all plans for improvements, and make the estimates of the probable and Carlisle and Ballard was not repcost of all improvements.

President E. P. Noble of the board of works, thinks the idea is a splendid one. "I expect to go out of office in a very short time," he said today, when asked about it, "so I can speak more freely on the proposition than thing to do by all means, and I more than his salary. You have no the demands it makes on the members' time, Last week we held four meetings, which is just a slight evidence of the time it requires, and of course we cannot give the matters ly adopted. he consideration a man whose duty it is to devote all of his time to the work, could.

"Such an official should take all the detail work off the board, get up all the plans or direct their prepara- adopted. tion, furnish the proper estimates in detail and work, hand in hand, with all the different city departments. The other two members of the board would be a check on his work, and with such an organization the work the board would do would be far more satisfactory, in every way, than under the present plan.

"Of course, this official should be a man in every way competent for such a position, and such a man would save the city his salary several times over. Paducah is a big, growing city now, and needs the most effective administrative work possible to secure, and this is one of the very best means to that end."

New Councilmanic Rule.

Members of the council are thinking of establishing a new rule to facilitate the passage of ordinances. Under the present method, or rule, it is sometimes six weeks before an ordinance becomes a law unless special sessions are held and these are always costly.

In Lexington the council boards, when they have up an ordinance they wish to pass through quickly, adopt it on its first meeting and adjourn for ten minutes or so, and the mayor, which is due form, and is probably what will be done in the boards here as many members deplore the time lost now in passing ordinances.

Paducah Streets Cleaner Than Chicago's.

"Paducah's streets are cleaner, and in a far better condition in every way sition and dirt lying around in great clean in comparison."

The board of works will take up the street cleaning proposition for

THE CONGRESSIONAL PRIMARY JUNE 9TH

Committee Today Was Brief.

He Will Be Required to Give All His If Only One Candidate April 3, He Will Be the Nominee-All But One County Represented.

The First Congressional District some of the members of the general Democratic committee met this morcouncil that the president of the ning at 10:30 o'clock in the parlors call a primary election on June 9th where they were working and trou- office such as to compensate that of- cratic nominee for congress from the First district.

Berry, McCracken; Conn Linn, Calloway; Thomas Smith, Lyon. Proxies were held for Caldwell, Trigg, Marshall resented.

Committeeman Berry, of McCracken, offered a resolution fixing a primary election for June 9th, 1906, for the purpose of selecting a nominee for the office of congressman from the First district. The resolution provided that in event but one candidate has paid in his fee by April 3, the primary is to be declared off, and Chairman Mott Ayres is to call a meeting of the district committee at Princeton at 1 o'clock p. m. on the 7th of April to declare this one candidate the nominee. The resolution carried with it instructions relative the primary, etc. It was unanimous-

Will Judge Lightfoot Run?

It is said that County Judge R T. Lightfoot's ears are being treated to the musical humming of the congressional bee and that he is thanking seriously of running for congress on the democratic ticket. He was seen this morning directly after the meeting of the First congressional district committee which fixed the date of a primary, but made no denial or confirmation of the report.

"You just say that I neither deny nor affirm the report," Judge Lightfoot stated when asked a point blank question as to his intention. It is known that his many friends are urging him to make the race and that he has been considering it rather seriously. The only known candidate among the democrats so far is the incumbent. Hon. Office James, of Marion, but there is plenty of time in which to decide.

Judge Lightfoot when asked if his friends were not pressing him then are called in session again by to run, stated that he could not deny this, but would rather have nothing pass it on the second reading. This said about the matter, that he preferred it to drop.

COURT OF APPEALS DECIDES NEW POINT

City is Sometimes Responsible for Mistakes of Its Councilmen.

Contractor Is Not Required to Know. Whether or Not an Ordinance Is Legal.

FIRST DECISION OF ITS KIND.

The reversal yesterday of the Mc-Cracken circuit court in the case of E. C. Terrell against the city of Paducah seems to have decided a new point, if local attorneys have guessed correctly. Until the opinion is received, however, it is not known whether their surmises are correct Contractor E. C. Terrell secured a contract a few years ago for improving Washington street from First street to the river. An ordinance had been passed for the improvement, but it seems that provision for sidewalks had been overlooked and the ordinance under which Contractor Terrell secured the contract said nothing about side.

walks. When the improvement was finished Mr. Terrell became involved in a controversy and had to go into court to collect the money due him for his work.

The main objection was that the ordinance was invalid, that it was a botch, inasmuch as the city had left nothing for sidewalks, when the law expressly requires that there shall always be left room for sidewalks in street improvements.

The McCracken circuit court heard the evidence and rendered judgment against the marine ways company and the elevator company for the regular width of the street, but declined to give Mr. Terrell a judgment for the additional grading and graveling he had done over the por-

He then sued the city, and the city suit for divorce on the grounds of came in and claimed that it was not abandonment. They married in 1905 Mable for any part of the improvement as, if the ordinance providing for the improvement was invalid. Starr, suit for divorce on the grounds the contractor should have known it and not done any work under it. Committeeman Smith, of Hickman 1902 and separated in January, 1903. That it was as much his duty to know whether it was constitutions or not as the city's. The McCracken circuit court sustained this contention of the city's, and Attorneys Bagby & Martin took an appeal. They centended that a contractor had no means of determining the constitutionality of an ordinance in advance, and that he was justified in presuming that city officials had done their duty and complied wita the law in passing the ordinance, and that it was constitutional and that he was safe in proceeding with work under it That if the contentilon of the city was correct, no contractor could safely take any contract unless he first proceeded to test it in the courts.

The court of appears yesterday, according to the information received here, sustained Attorneys Bagby & Martin, and for the first time in Kentucky decided that it makes no difference whether or not an ordinance is legal, the contractor is not expected nor required to know it. It also makes a city indirectly responsible for the ignorance and carelessness of its officials. In this case, the council's failure to provide for sidewalks in the ordinance, resulted in extra work which will now cost the taxpayers about $500.

Young Men Acquitted.

Mayfield, Ky., March 15 .- Wednesday morning a jury brought in a verdict of not guilty in the cases of malicious cutting against Walter and Herman Boren, two young men of the Hickory Grove section. At an ice cream supper on night in the summer of 1904, John Crider of this city, became engaged in a difficulty with the Boren boys, and was cut with a knife.

More Fights for Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, March 15 .- Mayor McAleer has refused to sign the ordinance prohibiting fights at Chutes park and the Gans-Sullivan match will probably be pulled off there tonight.

THE RIGHT IDEA.

The Louisville Herald has the right idea in discussing the ownership of public utilities. The people should not be so eager to take charge of such enterprises until they have purified municipal government, If ty before it has eliminated graft and grafters, it will only make more invincible the latter, for it will give them a firmer grasp on the government and make them more unwilling to let go. The thing to do is to in- Former Paducahan Reported in sist on a better, more business-like, more sensible, more economical city government. When men of standing, character and ability are placed in charge of city governmentswhen official appointments are made for merit alone-we shall have, or er, James Benson, the blacksmith begin to have, the right kind of a government. There will then be little opposition to municipal ownership. What is needed is to appoint men to office who will do for the salary they are paid the same by the people they represent, as they would by themselves in their own private business. We need to have cities run in the self same way that a modern business is conducted, that is, of course, if the business is conducted right.

"The utilities of a great city belong inalienably to the people of that city. They cannot be well and profitably operated by a city so long as that city's government is under partisan or factional rule. They can be so operated when the city's government is made a business proposition, pure and simple.

Says the Herald:

"It is the duty of the people of Louisville to bring about as soon as possible such a business system of city government. Awaiting that time leases may be granted of certain utilities to corporations allowing these bodies fair remuneration for capital invested, but securing for the city a just rental and granting no monopoly.

"Louisville is not now getting from the franchises enjoyed by some corporations within her limits the revenue justly due her. This condition is unfair to the wage earner and the home-builder and unjust to capital, which it conspires against by closing the door to competition.

"Conserve the people's interests. Have every grant or lease of franchises so framed as to permit the city to take over, when it feels it a duty to do so, the service temporarily granted or leased. The people must not be parted in perpetuity from their property."

ANOTHER VIEW OF THE POW-

ERS CASE. The Chicago Tribune in commenting on the Caleb Powers' decision of the supreme court of the United States, takes the position that the wrongs which have made Caleb Powers a prisoner for over six years can yet be righted. It says:

"Rarely, if ever, has the supreme court condemned in such unsparing Find one with drawn face terms the actions of the officials of a state. By the use of the words 'administrative officers' the question is left open whether the judiciary of the state is also held guilty of connivance at the attempt to prevent justice. It is not said that the judges nourishing it. could have prevented the packing of 4.50 the jury; at certainly is not said that the judges made any endeavor to prevent it.

"The Powers case is one in white the evidence is conflicting and in It supplies them with a perwhich party prejudices in favor of one or another view of the truth are strong. There was all the more reason why the officials in charge of the selection of the jury should have tried to get one that should be 'mpartial. Instead of that these officers had it in mind, according to he decision of the supreme court, to 'exclude from the jury, so far as t was possible to do so every person, however competent who belonged to the same political part; as the accused.'

"It surely must have been possible to find in Kentucky even in the heat of a state of excitement approaching civil war, twelve unprejudiced men drawn from different parties indiscriminately. The verdict might or might not have been the same, but it would have been received with less distrust and would not have had the effect of prolonging the bitterness of the struggle.

"It would be a defect in the conwere no way in which such unfairness could be remedied. Justice Harlan points out that while the ap- packet today. peal must be refused in its present form, there is a way in which the matter may be brought before the court again. Upon presentation of the case in due form, his language almost foreshadows a decision favorable to the accused. Whatever the final result, the administrative officers of the Kentucky courts will

DEPUTY MARSHAL

W. R. Bertram Was Arrested Last Night for Bootlegging.

He Fell Over a Fire Plug Once Near the Island Creek Bridge, But Escaped Serious Injury.

BERTRAM LANDED IN JAIL

Deputy U. S. Marshal Wade Brown rad his first real strenuous experience in an official capacity last night when he chased W. R. Bertram, white, of Marshall county, all over Mechanicsburg, meeting with many obstacles, among them a fire plug, which he stumbled over and came near being seriously injured. He kept up the pursuit, however, and finally landed his man safe in jail.

Deputy Marshal Brown received papers authorizing the arrest of Bertram, who is charged with bootlegging. He started in Ballard county yesterday but decided instead to go to Benton and get Bertram. When he arrived, his man had left for Paducah and Deputy Marshal Brown secured former Sheriff Dave Reeves, of Benton, to accompany him to Paducah to identify the fugitive, Marshal Brown not knowing him by

The two covered a great deal of ground in the early evening and got trace of their man at several saloons down town. They continued the search and learned where Bertram had been in Mechanicsburg, Marshal Brown then telephoned for Officer Dugan of the city police force, and started out with him to locate the man. While hustling from the bridge ecross Island Creek in the dark Marhal Brown failed to see a fire plug. which he says sets in the middle of the pavement because of recent changes in the location of houses, and he collided with it. His left ankle was given a very hard bump and he went to the ground. The ankle gave him a great deal of pain but the plucky deputy marshal continued. He met Officer Dugan at the Farley store and after a short search further into the wilds of "the burg" located the fugitive and arrested him.

Bertram was taken to jail and locked up at 8 o'clock pending trial. This morning Marshal Brown returned to Benton to secure witnesses. Bertram is a well known character in Benton and Marshall county, and has been before the courts before on a milar charge.

Lecture At High School.

The stereopticon lecture on "Japan" tomorrow evening at the High school auditorium by Miss Susan Polk Temple, promises to be a most interesting one. Miss Temple has traveled extensively abroad and the views to be shown were all personfew years ago. Wherever she has gone she has remained long enough to get in touch with the country and people and has not merely "flitted through." She is a Paducah girl of much charm of mentality and personality, and is spending the winter with her sister Mrs. C. H. Brothers on North Eighth street.

The lecture is under the auspices of the class of '06, and has been arranged by them and Miss Marian Noble of the High school faculty, for the benefit of the High school library. The subject "Japan" has an interest all its own, sufficient to attract many.

Weak Women Made Strong, Sick Women Made Well.

IN the above eight words is summed up the great work for women which is accomplished by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The record of cures effected by this remedy is without a parallel. Thousands of testimonals received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suf-

It is composed wholly of medicinal principles extracted from the roots of native, American forest plants, pure triple-refined glycerine of proper strength, being used instead of harmful alcohol both in extracting and preserving these medicinal principles.

IT IS A POWERFUL INVIGORATING TONIC, imparting health and strength in particular to the organs distinctly feminine. For weak and sickly women, who are "worn-out," "run-down," or debilitated. especially for women who work in store, office, or school-room, who sit at the typewriter or sewing machine, or bear heavy household burdens, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will prove a priceless benefit because of its health-restoring and strength-giving power.

AS A SOOTHING AND STRENGTHENING NERVINE.

"Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea, or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the organs distinctly feminine. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

CURES OBSTINATE CASES.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing, painful periods, unnatural suppressions and irregularities, prolapsus or falling of the pelvic organs, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the uterus, inflammation, pain and tenderness over the ovaries and kindred ailments.

FREE CONSULTATION.

An invitation is extended by Dr. Pierce to every sick and ailing woman to consult him by letter. There is absolutely no charge or fee for this consultation. Every letter is carefully considered, fully answered, and its statements held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R.V. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y.

THE BADGE OF HONESTY.

Each bottle of the above medicine bears upon its wrapper a badge of honesty in the full list of ingredients composing it-printed in plain English. This frank and open publicity places this medicine in a class all by itself. It cannot be classed as a patent nor secret medicine for it is neither-being of known composition.

DR. PIERCE'S PLEASANT PELLETS cure biliousness, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, costiveness, or constipation of the bowels, loss of appetite, coated tongue, sour stomach, windy belchings, "heart-burn," pain and distress after eating, and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. One little "Pellet" is a laxative, two are cathartic. They regulate, invigorate and cleanse the liver, stomach and bowels. As a "dinner pill," to promote digestion, take one each day. To relieve the distress arising from over-eating, nothing equals one of these little "Pellets." They're tiny, sugar-coated, antibilious granules, scarcely larger than mustard seeds.

HEALTH AND HAPPINESS.

How to live in health and happiness, is the general theme of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This great work on medicine and hygiene, containing over 1000 pages and more than 700 illustrations, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume, or only 21 stamps for the book in paper covers. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

SPECIAL TRAIN

Will Be Used to Carry Richard Carle Company.

Richard Carle and his "Mayor of Tokio" company, which play here Monday night, will arrive from Memphis on a special train at noon on Monday the 19th.

The "movement" of the train has been received by local railroad employes. It will move as a second section of the fast Memphis and Louisville passenger train. The company is a large one, numbering 55 people by actual count, and carries a great deal of scenery. It has just left the east, after several months in New York on Broadway.

"The Mayor of Tokio" is one of the headliners in the theatrical business and will no doubt prove one of the biggest draw cards of the year at The Kentucky.

Carle is the author of "The Tender foot," "Maid and the Mummy" and 'Mayor of Tokio." He writes most of the song hits both the music and words. This will be Carle's second visit to Paducah his first being in "The Tenderfoot" last year.

NEW ORDER ISSUED TO LETTER CARRIERS.

Does Not, However, Prevent Them From Handling Express Packages.

Rural letter carriers will not be permitted to solicit business or receive orders of any kind while on duty. Many requests have been received by fourth Assistant Postmaster General De Graw that the privilege of taking subscriptions for news papers be restored to the rural carriers. When rural free delivery was in its infancy the carriers were alsolidated with the Livingston Ban- lowed, in addition to doing an exner and will be manager hereafter press package business, to solicit subscriptions for newspapers and other publications. In this way they were enabled to increase their income.

Abuses sprung up, however, and a ago, some one left a bundle of law was enacted requiring that "on switches tied up with a wire and and after July 1, 1904, rural carriers about six feet long, bearing a note shall not solicit business or receive which read, "If you don't like your orders of any kind for any person, surroundings get out, and that d-d firm or corporation." In response to quick," or words to that effect, on the requests now being sent to the the front porch of Rev. R. L. Tally, department, the following order was

"Under this provision of law rural carriers are not permitted to solicit business or receive orders of any kind, including subscriptions for newspapers. The department considers this a wise provision, it being contrary to good policy for an employe of the government, in connection with his official duties, to be acting as an agent of a private enterprise to the disadvantage of a competitor. It is also deemed in the interest of the postal service, in that the carrier does not make the delivery of mail a secondary matter. Carriers, however, are not prohibited from carrying outside of the mails, unmailable matter on the request and at the expense of patrons of their routes."

Here is a typical case: Mr. Benjamin Shaw, postmaster of Bland, New Mexico. He had suffered from aggravated piles for years and was upon the eve of a serious surgical operation, believing that he had reached the limit, and that the operation offered the only possible means of relief and cure. Let us quote his own words in his letter of October 31, 1905: "I was in great agony of mind and body. In the meantime, a gentleman told me of the virtue of your pyramid remedy. I fortunately found it at a drug store, and by the next morning I did not feel that an operation was necessary, and in three days I was able to return home, and a complete cure was accomplished to my great satisfaction and the surprise of the physician."

CHAPTER XXVI.

NN, being measurably relieved from anxiety by Louis' subsiding pulse, permitted herself a closer study of the brusque and ominous movements taking place in the scope of her window. She stud-ied Raymond, in earnest but apparently unexpected conference with his workmen. No word of their low utterance reached her ears, but she ob-served that they organized into squads as if in obedience to some command and that each man armed himself and that each face was grim or recklessly smiling. That they formed her guard she knew, and this in itself ought to have been thrilling. But it was not-it seemed absurd.

Raymond did not show himself again to her until about 9 o'clock of the evening, when he entered the sickroom and said quietly to Braide: "Doctor, you better go to bed if the patient will permit. You may be badly needed early tomorrow morning."

"Very well," acquiesced Braide, convinced that a closer tie than friendship united Ann and the young miner and that they desired to be alone.

The door had hardly closed behind the young physician when Ann turned to Raymond and imperiously said: "You must not try to evade me. I want to know what is threatening. Tell me!"

"The camp is wild," he admitted. feeling the resentment in her voice, "and I don't see how a clash can be avolded so long as Munro is in command and keeps his present temper. But you need give no thought to that. All my men are on guard tonight, and, whatever happens, this cabin is safe," "I like you to be honest with me," she said, more gently. "I'm not a child, and I'm not a timid person."

"You shall know," he answered, taking a seat before the fire. He had never been more admirable than at that moment. "My theory is that the sheriff's forces are eager to storm the till before the governor has a chance to interfere and 'protect his pets,' that is the way they put it. If the attack is made a desperate struggle will follow. Probably the deputies will try to carry the fortification direct. Meanwhile Kelly and I have drawn up and forwarded to the governor a long telegram signed by the leading independents, reciting our disaster and demanding immediate interference on his part, and we are hoping to hear from him before midnight. I have also wired Barnett to warn the sheriff of your presence here and that we are guarding you. I think Don is with the deputies. If he is he will see that this cabin remains outside the field of operation.'

"Where is Captain Munro?" "His vedettes are camped on the orth slope, but may engage the enemy at any moment, for Jack is quite as eager as the sheriff to win first blood. If it were not for the possible injury of innocent men and women I would say let them fight it out. Each camp is quite as crazy and lawless as the other. Now you have the truth. I have concealed nothing from you. I will even tell you that Munro has promised to come down for a final conference with the independents and that we are still hoping to persuade him to leave the camp. The sick boy stirred uneasily and called faintly, and Ann went to him and bent above him tenderly. "Here I am, Buddie. Are you better?" "Oh, I'm so hot! Take that blanket off me." Raymond looked at Ann. "Shall I lighten his load?"

She shook her head as she put a glass of water to the boy's lips. "What time is it?" he asked as he fell back upon his pillow. "Going on 10 o'clock."

"Has the fight come off yet?"

Raymond was cautious. camp is quiet."

He insisted on talking. "I hope they won't fight till I get over this cold. It's hard luck to be here. What day is it? How long have I been sick? You should have seen Jack when he rode up and stopped the man!" In this way his mind leaped and danced for an hour, but he grew drowsy at last and went away into sleep.

Ann spoke first. "Poor boy! He will always feel defrauded to think he is missing all the drama."

Your father must have been such another enthusiast. I liked his name for you."

She colored. "That was the only thing I had to reproach him for. I reprouch myself now for not acquiescing in it. I think it grieved him to have me side with mother against it.' "It is a sweet name to me-Hesper." He uttered it with the tenderness which dwells in the voice of a lover, and its letters sang together-but be dared not look at her.

Raymond was hastening to apologize for his temerity when the noise of a gaileping horse cut short his speech and whitened Ann's cheek, so portentous was the sound of haste at such an hour. "I hope that is Jack," said the miner, and hastened to the door to meet and silence Munro, who entered with studied effect and, removing his sombrero, bowed very low to Ann. "Good evening, haughty princess. How's the kid?"

Ann, relieved to find the flying messenger an expected though unwelcome visitor, replied pleasantly. "He's better, thank you."

A covert smile curled the handsome lips of the young leader as he glanced from Raymond to Ann, and something in his bearing puzzled the girl. When he spoke again, with a growing deliberation, she perceived that he was in liquer.

"You mustn't be alarmed-these are rough times, but you'll be protected. Battle's comin' off this time, sure thing. We move on the enemy at daybreak. Sit down. Don't stand in my presence," he added, with a comical twist of his lips.

Ann turned with a startled glance to Raymond, who genially said: "I'm glad you came down, Jack. I want you to hold a conference with the independents."

Munro stiffened. "No time for conf'rence. No time to talk with any one. I just came down to say howdy to the lady, that's all. Understand?" His voice rose.

Raymond lifted a warning band. Quietly, old man, don't disturb the boy. Let's go find Kelly."

Munro's face grew sullen. "Don't want to see Kelly-don't want to see you. I've come to see the lady." He faced Ann again. "I'm going into battle. May be killed tomorrow. Had to say goodby. I may not see you again." To Raymond's great relief Kelly, who had heard Munro arrive, appeared at him, but as Munro followed and stood the door. His manner was easy and for an instant on the step, peering into regard to vehicles being driven over his voice low as he greeted the intruder, "Hello, Jack! How goes the Napoleonic business?"

Munro turned with darkening brows and labored to be gloomily impressive. Ann and the boy, closed the door. The "Got 'em scared, all right. They're girl, not daring to look out, could only meditating retreat this minute."

Kelly laid a hand on his shoulder. "Lad, you need sleep. You're worn ate man uttered a gasping snarl, but it

Raymond, with a significant look at Matt, turned as if to stir the fire, a movement which brought him behind his visitor.

Munro put his hands in his pockets and laboriously explained: "Been tryin' to keep awake on whisky. Triffe shot this minute, askin' Lady Ann's pardon."

Raymond's right arm encircled the young leader's waist, pinioning the deadly right hand to his side, while Kelly, seizing the almost equally skillful left, whipped the young desperado's revolver from his belt.

For a moment the fangless rattlesnake was bewildered. "What you mean, ftob?" he asked ominously "Come outside, Jack. Don't make a

"Let go o' me," he retorted, writhing in Raymond's clutch. In the midst of this he grinned at Kelly. "I know these arms. What's your game, Rob?" "Come outside and I'll tell you," pleaded Raymond.

The sodden brain of the reckless leader was waking up again, and, with a bow to Ann, he said: "Sorry to 'sturb you, but I must take these men outside and kill 'em. See you again soon."

Munro's knotted muscles almost in-stantly relaxed, his hands fell inert, his head turned quietly to one side, and his face became as peaceful as a sleeping child.

Test Case to Be Made of Improvements On Streets Accepted By City.

LITTLE BUSINESS YESTERDAY

The board of public works held a meeting yesterday afternoon, but on account of the absence of President E. P. Noble, who was in Chicago, the business was not finished, and another meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon.

A report was submitted by Street Inspector Alonzo Elliott regarding street cleaning and other matters in his department, but the project of establishing a street cleaning department by the city was not decided, but left open for tomorrow.

Streets and gutters in Rowlandtown were ordered cleaned by the street inspector's force.

A request was received from prop. erty owners on each side of Farley street, Mechanicsburg, for granitoid sidewalks. It was ordered that the proper petition first be prepared and signed and filed with theboard, which will then act on the request.

The street inspector was instructed to consult the city solicitor in the sidewalks at the Glauber stable at Third and Washington streets, where there is no driveway from the curb to the stable door. If it is against the law, a driveway will have to be constructed or vehicles barred Street Inspector Elliott reported that he had decided on Hampton avenue, from the Cairo road to North 12th street, to grade and gravel as a test of who must pay for such an improvement. The street is in Worten's addition. It was built and some gravel placed on it, and it was dedicated by Mr. Worten to, and accepted by the city. The city now doing this for his own good. We won't claims that the gravel was not thick enough, and that for that reason the city will not be compelled to keep up repairs on such streets. This street will be graded and graveled just as if it were a dirt road, and then the question will be taken to the courts I'm going to save you from state's pris- for settlement. It is likely that the courts will decide that if the street was not properly built the city should not have accepted it.

The matter of constructing a culfor drainage, was referred to the Again the frenzied man renewed his city solicitor to ascertain whether and costs, amounting to $14.50, struggle. Blindly, ferociously, like an or not the property has ever been which he paid. It developed that street inspector will be instructed to build the culvert.

The street inspector was instructed to have cleaned and repaired the streets and sidewalks on Broadway near the railway crossing.

The board requested City Weigher M. W. Johnson to keep a record of all material weighed for the board of works department of the city, in order that the board will not have to depend solely on the seller's certifi, cate from the weigher.

Tomogrow at 4 o'clock, at the adjourned meeting of the board, the joint street committee of the general council will be present to discuss street improvements for the
